2011...Helping out physically and financially

Happy New Year, and we hope it is a healthy, happy and prosperous one for you. Melissa and I will certainly be doing our best to help you make sure it is.

Reasons why...

- 2010 was an amazing year for us personally. It was the year Melissa got more of her old life back.
- This personal experience was the inspiration for helping other people achieve similar health benefits.
- It led to HelpingEachOther, a concept that we believe has global appeal in what is an established and increasingly global model.
- We feel privileged that, as a group we are in a position to really help people physically and financially. And HelpingEachOther provides the opportunity for everyone of us to do this on a sustainable basis.

2010...

- This was a discovery year. A year of getting personal results and realising the potential positives for others and the broader community.
- A year of developing concepts and putting in place the foundations of what we believe is a valuable and sustainable model for helping people and being rewarded for your efforts to help other people.
- It is a simple reality that most people have limited time and resources to help other people in this increasingly busy society. We hope to provide a model that allows people to get involved without necessarily having to make major commitments in time, but also to be rewarded for your efforts in helping us raise awareness of the health benefits of Colostrum.

2011 and beyond...

We are getting increasing numbers of stories from people getting fantastic personal results on the products they are using, and this is the motivation for what we are doing, changing lives and lifestyles for the better. We hope to bring you more of those stories on video sooner rather than later.

The foundations are in place to do something inspiring and significant, whether it is for a single individual or throughout our communities. This is what we are building on in 2011. HelpingEachOther will launch websites in New Zealand and South Africa as soon as practical and we are currently looking to build relationships with people who have strong ties and contacts within the Asian region. Please let us know if this is you?

To be able to get the message of the health success of the people involved in HelpingEachOther out to the widest possible audience, we need help by letting people know about the results of our members and visiting our website or subscribing to our Facebook Fan Page.

The web based model for relaying information is very gentle. People receive information in a soft manner and choose to take action or not. So we thank you in advance for subscribing to our newsletter on our webpage, encourage you to become a member of HelpingEachOther if you have not already done so, and for passing on this information to people who may benefit from the amazing health results that many others are achieving using Colostrum supplements.

Wishing you the best of good health,
Derek & Melissa Morgan
